

~~DIAGNOSED~~ SURVIVOR

Let's end cancer as we know it.

Every day, nationwide, researchers are discovering scientific breakthroughs. Each one holds extraordinary promise to transform how we prevent, detect and treat cancer. With sustained federal investment in research at the National Institutes of Health and National Cancer Institute, we are harnessing discoveries to change what it means to be diagnosed with any of the 200 different diseases known as cancer, and to ensure all patients have an equitable chance to survive and thrive. Robust funding for groundbreaking research has driven declines in cancer death rates to date. Let's build on that proven progress.

Congress, prioritize sustained funding increases for the NIH and NCI in the FY23 spending bill. Your support will help us end cancer as we know it for everyone.

Learn more at fightcancer.org

