

RACHEL ONLY HAS THREE MONTHS

...until her family vacation.

Fighting cancer starts with knowing you have it. What sounds like a life-changing cancer diagnosis doesn't have to be. Multi-cancer early detection screenings can test for many different types of cancers at once, which could help detect cancer at earlier stages and give patients more treatment options and a better prognosis. This technology could revolutionize cancer detection and help more seniors like Rachel rewrite their future by getting treatment early on. Congress must help lay the foundation for this innovative new technology to be covered for seniors when clinical benefit is shown.

Let's increase the odds against cancer.
Tell Congress now is the time to pass H.R. 1946/S. 1873.
