

JOIN OUR ADVOCACY TEAM

In times like these it's hard to know how to help.

As the COVID-19 crisis continues to affect every community, we know that cancer patients and survivors have been and will continue to be greatly impacted.

Cancer hasn't stopped. So neither have we.

The American Cancer Society Cancer Action Network staff and volunteers are working tirelessly to ensure federal and state relief packages include provisions to support cancer patients and the health systems and nonprofits that serve them during this pandemic.

OUR APPROACH

Listen to needs

We survey cancer patients and survivors to understand the challenges they face.

Apply expertise

Our experts evaluate policy opportunities based on evidence.

Team up

Our staff and volunteers in every state and Congressional District coordinate efforts to amplify our impact.

Amplify patient voices

We share stories with lawmakers to help them understand community needs.

Turn passion into action

We help passionate people like you become effective advocates in the fight against cancer.

We cut through the noise and provide opportunities to help in a meaningful way.

Last year nearly

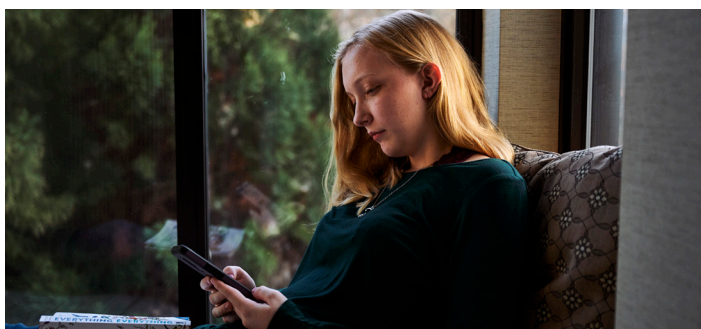

81,400 volunteers
took action with ACS CAN nationwide.

Together we successfully advocated for things like comprehensive smoke-free laws, access to cutting-edge therapies for cancer patients and funding to support the fight against cancer.

We need you now more than ever.

Join us now as we continue to use our power to support cancer patients, caregivers and the health systems and nonprofits that serve them through this pandemic.

You can be an advocate right where you are.
