Addressing Opportunities and Challenges in Providing Cancer Screenings to All Texans

Welcome to the American Cancer Society Cancer Action Network

The American Cancer Society Cancer Action Network (ACS CAN) is committed to the mission of eliminating cancer as a major health problem.

Many important decisions about cancer are made not just in the doctor's office, but also in your state legislature, in Congress and the White House. The federal government, for example, is the largest funder of medical research in this country with 80 cents of every dollar going back into communities across this country to conduct research that is going to change the face of cancer and other chronic diseases. It is critical that Congress increase funding for cancer research to continue progress against this disease.

Health insurance coverage, clinical trial participation, the development of new treatments, tobacco control policies and funding for prevention programs are all issues in the legislative arena. That is why advocacy is critical to help prevent and fight cancer.

Patients and survivors are facing threats on multiple fronts right now, including the struggle to get and afford health care. Now is the time for our lawmakers to do all they can to address and help alleviate these challenges. ~Lisa Lacasse, ACS CAN President

We invite you to learn more about how you can become personally invested in ACS CAN- the advocacy organization that works for public policy change to help cancer patients.

We work across the cancer continuum, with priority items including access to health care, cancer prevention and early detection, research funding, quality of life and tobacco control, and you have the ability to help make an investment to end cancer as we know it, for everyone!
